WORLD SELECTION PROCESS: (SOURCE: https://world.wng.org/content/2020_hope_awards)

This is year 15 of WORLD's Hope Awards for Effective Compassion—and the strangest. The 100-plus ministries our readers nominated had to adjust their programs in the face of COVID-19. And we had to adjust our process of choosing winners.

Over the years we've learned to verify by in-person visits what ministries put on their websites—but this year we decided not to send our team into a viral hazard all across the United States. Instead, we visited eight impressive East Coast ministries and then chose four to profile. (Happily, before the pandemic one of our reporters had already eyeballed the ministry in Malaysia that became our international winner.) Next year, our reporters will head west.

Our common denominator each year is that winners offer challenging, personal, and spiritual help. That's harder under coronavirus conditions. So, this year we learned how each ministry dealt with pandemic problems, as you'll see in the profiles linked below.

Please read the magazine profiles and listen to our podcast accounts, and then vote for your favorite between now and Oct. 17. We can't offer these ministries a vaccine, but we'll give each one a monetary shot in the arm. The ministry receiving the most votes from our readers and listeners wins a $10,000 grand prize. The other four will pick up a check for $2,000. And all five get a well-deserved publicity spotlight after years of perseverance sometimes noticed only by God.
